ABSTRACT

This talk will focus on the public debate between two Greek authors, Lipowatz and Terzakis, who represent a Lacanian and Anarchist position respectively regarding the events that took place last December in Greece. The main arguments of the two authors will be presented as well as an analysis of how their ideas reflect contemporary society and readings of social instability.

The seminar series is open to all members of staff and students of CITY and to public that wish to attend.
